The Center for Evidence-Based Practices supports and promotes regional networks to encourage professionals from multiple disciplines, service settings, and systems of care to share challenges, solutions, and lessons learned while implementing evidence-based practices and other service strategies that improve outcomes for people with mental illness or co-occurring mental illness and substance use disorders.
The Center for Evidence-Based Practices at Case Western Reserve University is a partnership between the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences and the Department of Psychiatry at the Case Western Reserve School of Medicine. The partnership is in collaboration with and supported by the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services (OhioMHAS).

The Center for Evidence-Based Practices is the parent organization for three State of Ohio Coordinating Center of Excellence (CCOE) initiatives:

- Ohio SAMI CCOE | Substance Abuse and Mental Illness
- Ohio ACT CCOE | Assertive Community Treatment
- Ohio SE CCOE | Supported Employment
